DEMOCRATS FIGHT AN UPHILL BATTLE

Republican Strength In Balance In House When Appropriation Bills
Are Considered

BY MAJORITY OF ONE VOTE

Republican Representatives Balk
Move To Knock Out Appropriation For New Reformatory

(By United Press)

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 6.—Republican strength was in the balance
today during consideration of measures appropriating sixteen million dollars for the maintenance of the state government.

By a vote of 47 to 46—a republican majority of only one—a democratic move to knock out the two million dollar appropriation for the new reformatory at Pendleton was defeated. The vote was strictly along party lines in that question as well as on all other questions of appropriations that came up during the morning session.

Representative Gottschalk, democratic floor leader, moved to amend a bill to prohibit use of any of the governor's contingent fund in construction of the new reformatory.
Representative Pittenger moved to
table the motion and the vote was on his motion.

This was the start of a democratic uphill battle to seize control of the house. The republicans stood firm
for the bill with the exception of a number of amendments agreed to be the administration.

The fight started with two republicans absent.

An amendment made by Representative Kenney, democrat, to strike out the governor's emergency contingent fund was lost when a motion to table the amendment was carried by a vote of 50 to 46.

A reduction of $213,000 was approved when amendments made by Republican leaders were carried. The reductions were made in the governor's emergency contingent fund for $500,000 to $300,000; the industrial board appropriation from $100,000 to $90,000 and the historical commission appropriation from $18,000 to $15,000.

Consideration of the measure
hardly got under way this morning when the house adjourned. It recon-vened this afternoon.

In the senate a bill which would limit the uses of the term "drug store" or "pharmacy" only two stores licensed in the state and living licensed clerks was passed by a vote of 20 to 18. The bill was introduced by Senator Dunn.

The narrow republican majority of the state house of representatives
was pledged today to pilot Governor

TWO GERMANS KILLED BY FRENCH INVADERS

Outside Of Few Isolated Instances, Occupied Areas Of Germany Are
Quiet Today

RAIL TRAFFIC NOT STOPPED

(By United Press)

Muenster, Feb. 6.—Two Germans
were killed by French troops in the newly occupied territory today, according to reports from Weisbaden.

Outside of these isolated instances
the Ruhr and Rhineland were quiet,
the French having failed to put in
to effect their threat to cut traffic on the Berlin-Switzerland main line,
north of Baden.

Germany refuses to enforce resumption of the international train service on the Paris-Prague and the Paris-Orient lines and France has threatened to prevent rail traffic to Switzerland, but this was not done.
Finance Minister Hermes came to the Ruhr today following return of Chancellor Cuno to Berlin.

Germany will hold out to the last Chancellor Cuno, touring the occupied
areas and those threatened with invasion, pledged in a speech here last night.

In an appeal for unity and support of the government the chancellor said:

"If we do not stand together now the republic is lost."

Hodges Branch Drain is Important Case This Week, and Will be Heard on Saturday

The court calendar for the first part of the new term of court, which convened yesterday, has been made out by Judge Sparks, and practically every day a case or two has been set for trial this month.

Only a few cases are in the crim-day, in which Mary Ellen Hughes is defendant, the matter has been continued until a later date, which will be decided by Judge Craig of Greensburg, special judge.

The Hodges Branch drain case is set for a hearing on Saturday, and is expected to attract considerable interest, because practically everyone in Rushville will be either benefitted or assessed for its construction.

Most of the cases set for February are court cases, and in all probability the jury will not be used as much as in former court terms.

This morning the petition of Jacob Hester against Mary E. Zike, for a guardian, was heard, and the court decided that the defendant was not capable of managing her affairs, and Jasper Hester was appointed guardian, and bond was placed at $7,500.
The court calendar for the first part of the new court term, is as follows:

GAHIMER SCHOOL LEADS ONE CLASS

Shows Best Attendance of Any of Nine One-Room School Buildings
in The County

FURTHER STATISTICS GIVEN

For First Semester With 98.2 Percent Present

In the 9 one-room school houses
in Rush county, the Gahimer school
had the best attendance for the first school semester and of the four
two-room buildings in the county,
the building at Mays, heads the list.
At the Gahimer school the percentage was 99.4 and at the Mays school
it was 98.2 percent.

The report covering these schools
has been completed by B. D. Farthing county school superintendent, who announced Monday the data on the township consolidated schools.

There are 462 pupils enrolled in the 9 one-room buildings and 4 two-room buildings. The Freeman and Summer one-room buildings rank
close seconds to the Gahimer school,
and the Walnut Ridge two room
building is a close second to the Mays school, in the record for attendance.

In commenting upon the report,
Mr. Farthing states as follows: "It is to be noted the single and double
room buildings have rapidly disappeared in the past few years, giving
way to township consolidated buildings, but in a few localities of the county, the single and double-room
buildings are still used on account
of the lack of transportation and
the distance from remote places to
the consolidated schools.

"The schools at Carthage, the Booker T. Washington, and the Gary school both one-room buildings, has
an enrollment each of 19 pupils,
which is the least in the county. The Alexander school has 28 pupils, being the largest in attendance for one-room school, while the Gahimer
school is a close second with 27
pupils.

"In the two-room buildings, the Circleville school in Rushville township, ranks the highest in enrollment
with 85, and Richland school ranks second with 78. The Freeman and Gary schools had a perfect record
on tardies for the semester, and are in a class with Moscow, Webb and Center for not having any tardy pupils.

"The Applegate school in the one-room class headed the list for tardy-

DR. EMERSON BARNUM IS ALMOST SCALPED

Manilla Physician Runs Into Pennsylvania Engine With Automobile Monday Evening

Dr. Emerson Barnum of Manilla
was almost scalped Monday evening
when an automobile he was driving
ran into a Pennsylvania passenger train engine at the principal crossing
in Manilla. He suffered no serious injuries except those on his head and
is expected to recover unless an infection develops, according to physicians who were called.

Dr. Barnum became confused when the train crossed the street on which he was riding and was unable to stop his machine, which was upset
and hurled against the Manilla bank building. Buildings on both sides of the street obscure the view of the railroad at the crossing where the accident happened.

Dr. Barnum's scalp was cut by broken glass and he was severely
shaken up by the impact with the engine. The train was the one which is due in Rushville at 6:40 o'clock,
northbound.

Dr. Barnum is forty years old and is married. He is a son of Dr. W.
E. Barnum of Manilla, who retired
as coroner of Rush county January 1, this year.

CHIEF APPEAL THROUGH BIBLE

Christianity Can Not be Explained
in Any Other Way Except by Admitting Divine Origin

Presents an Unaccountable Man, Unaccountable Hope, Love, Activity
and Motive

On Monday night the Rev. W. Mc-
Clean Work preached at the First United Presbyterian church on Acts 11:26.

"And the disciples were called Christians first in Antioch." Cutting short the introduction the speaker
plunged quickly into the discussion of the theme—"What is Christianity?"

"It was given an unique place among the great world religions," he said. "Its appeal is principally
through the Book, the record of redeemed men and especially of the redeeming Christ. The facts of the Book cannot be explained otherwise
than by admitting its divine origin,
and the supernatural agency that operates through it." The speaker

"The gospels present an unac-countable man. We can explain every other great character of history
by what he has in common with the rest of humanity, but not so of Jesus Christ. His birth was different.
His teachings were from a different angle. His power to accomplish was peculiar to himself. His selection of friends and followers was ruinous,
from any merely human viewpoint.
His appeal was to every man and to all classes of men. His submission to death on the cross, at the hands of his enemies, can not be explained if
his object were to establish a world
empire. Man's reason never can account for the Christ as a man.

"The Acts present an unaccountable activity. Humanly speaking the tragic end of the life of Jesus Christ
should have ended his influence in world. But following Pentecost the number of his disciples increased rapidly. Peter's sermon won 3000 in one day. Soon the disciples were scattered abroad and as they went they preached Christ. All the power of the Jewish nation could not surpass the rising sect.

"The Epistles present an unac-countable motive. Self interest did not stay the followers of the Christ.
Fear was lost in the prosecution of their cause. Against all sorts of discouraging circumstances they went forward to their task. The motive that drove them on was not a motive that would appeal to the ordinary man.

"The book of Prophecy fosters an unaccountable hope. They were content to labor on and suffer on without hope of recognition, or honor, or success, or appreciation, or any recompense, so far as anyone could
see. Neither Jew, nor Greek, nor Roman could understand why the disciples should thus sacrifice every other interest.

"They hoped for immortality.
Death had no terror for them for they did not expect to die. They went willingly to the block since
some hope, unknown to most men,
sustained them.

"The love that these followers of Jesus Christ manifested was unaccountable. They loved their enemies and were willing to die that they might be saved. They loved one another as if members of the same family. And they loved their absent Lord and were willing to give up
everything that he might be honored.

"In the book of prophecy, the Revelation, we find an unaccountable
hope, it is the hope of a land where there shall be no more sin. It is sin
that has brought destruction upon every nation, since the beginning of time.

"And there is the hope of a land
where there shall be no more curse.
Sin came into the world and the ground was cursed and brought forth
weeds, the animal life was cursed
and bred disease, love was cured and degenerated into lust, power was cursed and became tyranny, wealth
was cursed and became miserliness

Charley Sweet Files Plea With State
Pardon Board

Charley Sweet, convicted in the Rush circuit court of violation of the prohibition laws, has filed a plea for clemency before the state board
of pardons, and his petition is one of
the 38 new pleas which have been presented to the board.

The Rushville man, it will be recalled, was arrested last fall, and
appeared several weeks ago before Judge Sparks and changed his plea
from not guilty, to guilty, and received a fine of $100 and a sentence
of 90 days at the state farm. The fine and sentence amounted to more than 220 days.

TURKEY BACKS DOWN ON STAND

Immediate War In Near East Apparently Averted When Ismet
Pasha Changes Front

REALIZES HIS MISTAKE

Sends Word To Paris He Is Ready
To Accept Judicial Safeguards,
Point In Dispute

Paris, Feb. 6.—Turkey has cap-
itulated on the chief point under dispute at the Lausanne conference,
and threat of immediate war in the Near East is somewhat further averted.

After the British had withdrawn
from the parley and the French had made preparations to follow, Ismet Pasha, Turkish spokesman apparently realized he had made a mistake.

The Turks sent word to Paris by
M. Vompard, French delegate, as follows:

"I am ready to accept judicial safeguards. I understand that the allies agree to defer economic clauses
of the treaty for further discussion."

Word to this effect was immediately forwarded to London, according
to semi-official advices, where the British cabinet was considering the situation in the light of Britain being called upon to defend her interests
in the Near East.

Ismet Pasha intimated he now
feels the next move should come from the allies. Until France and Britain
agree as to what shall be done, continuance or abandonment of the Lausanne parley is in the balance.

The Turkish delegate wishes to return to Ankara to confer with his government. He is anxious to have the conference resumed.

The Rev. Gibson Wilson Shows Close
Connection Between Two At

PLANS FOR STATE CONFERENCE

The business of the church and its
relation to all business was discussed by the Rev. Gibson Wilson, new pastor of the First Presbyterian church, at the noon meeting of the Rotary club at the Social club today.

Previous to the address, the club
discussed plans for sending a delegation of Rotarians to the annual Indiana conference which will be held at Michigan City February 21 and 22. At least ten and probably more will go from the Rushville club.

The Rev. Mr. Wilson said that the church was interested in making better lives, better characters and
better homes and that it took the lead in the field of higher education,
by continually urging its young people to devote their lives to service.

The minister asserted that where
the churches are prosperous, business is always good. He referred to the part the church had played in bringing about prohibition and other
reforms, and added that this one reform alone had resulted in improving business because more money was saved for legitimate business since
the liquor business had been outlawed.

SEES HARDING AS NEXT CANDIDATE

Senator Watson Predicts He Will be Renominated Without Opposition
by Republicans

SPIRITED SENATE DEBATE

Prophecy of Indiana Senator, Himself Mentioned as Candidate,
Made During Partisan Tilt

Washington, Feb. 6.—President
Harding's renomination without opposition by the Republican National Convention in 1924 was proclaimed
to the Senate this afternoon by Senator James E. Watson, of Indiana,
a staunch Administration Senator and
close friend of the President.

Senator Watson's venture into the field of prophecy came near the close of a spirited partisan debate,
participated in by Senator Pat Harrison, of Mississippi, whose humorous references to recent newspaper
accounts of contemplated changes
in the majority leadership of the Senate kept that body in an uproar
for more than half an hour.

elevation of Senators James W.
Watsworth, of New York, and Irvine L. Lenroot, of Wisconsin, to the position of aides to Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, of Massachusetts, as evidence that heroic measures are to be adopted to weld the divergent groups of Republicans in the Senate into a united force for the forthcoming presidential campaign.

Harrison deplored what he characterized as the dethronement of Senators Charles Curtis, of Kansas, Republican whip, and Watson, of Indiana, intimating that the reputed
presidential aspirations of the latter
and of Senator Arthur S. Capper, of Kansas, Senator Curtis's colleague,
might have been responsible for their undoing at this time.

In support of the Watson presidential boom, the Mississippi Senator
quoted from a newspaper dispatch
from Indianapolis, headed "Two Presidential Booms in Indiana—Bev-

JOHN WOLTERS IS NAMED CONSTABLE

Appointed by County Board of Commissioners When James Adams

ROAD PETITION IS FILED

John Wolters of this city was appointed constable for Rushville
township by the county board of commissioners at the regular February meeting Monday. James Adams was elected constable on the republican ticket last November, but failed to qualify and file his bond,
making the appointment necessary.
Wolters was the democratic candidate and was defeated by Adams.

In addition to awarding the contract for the James Heifner road in Ripley township, the commissioners
also placed on file a petition of Charles Leisure and others for a new road on the Jackson-Posey
township line and ordered new plans
and specification to be drawn for the Harry McManus road in Jackson
township.

A review of the road was ordered
on the petition of the petitioners and Charles R. Oldham of Center township was appointed a viewer in place of George H. Bell, who was disqualified on account of being a member of the board of commissioners now. The other viewer is John
A. Nelson of Posey township. The petition was filed in 1920 but the road was never ordered.

Several constables for the Horse
Thief Detective association were appointed as follows: Jess C. Scott, of
the New Salem branch; George W.
Brown, A. M. Kennedy, Kanerda
Jones, Clifford Cameron, Ross Lo-
zan, William Arnold, Walter Cruhl, Leonidas M. Coons; John D. Osborne, W. H. Callaghan, Guy Abercrombie, Cleo Emsweller.

VALUE OF PURE SEED

Seed Law Is Being Made Effective
Largely Through Efforts Of Inspectors Of Purdue

Great Deal Of Seed Tested Was Sufficiently High In Purity To Come In High Class

"How effective was the Indiana seed law during its first years operation?" is a question of interest to many Indiana farmers and seed dealers.

Some light is thrown on it by Purdue University Bulletin 264 entitled "Inspection of Agricultural Seeds" which is just off the press. The Seed Law is being made effective largely thru the efforts of a staff of inspectors who travel to all parts of the state taking samples of any seeds exposed for sale. The samples together with a copy of the data which the law requires on the tag, are forwarded to the Seed Laboratory of Purdue where the seed samples are analysed. If the analyses shows that the data on the label is incorrect, the dealer is required to relabel the seed correctly before it can be sold. The new bulletin gives in concise form the results of all the official analyses made during the first year the seed law was in operation.

Since the source of the seed is given, the bulletin is really a guide to where good seed can be purchased. To the local dealer who earnestly desires to supply his patrons with the best seed available, the bulletin is very valuable. The more this bulletin is used as a guide to the purchase of good seed, the greater will be the incentive for wholesalers to supply the best seed possible. When a firm offers its wares for sale at a glance at the analysis of seed previously sold by the firm in question as reported in the bulletin will give some indication of the grade of the product.

seed 100% pure and 100 o/o viable is not on the market. A great deal of seed tested, however, was sufficiently high in purity and germination to stamp it as high class seed. On the other hand, this bulletin also reveals that entirely too much low grade seed was offered for sale in Indiana during the year. One lot of blue grass seed shipped from Kentucky contained 135,000 weed seeds per pound, including such noxious weeds as sorrel, buckhorn and curled dock. Worse than that was a lot of red clover seed from Wisconsin that contained 46,160 weed seeds per pound, including the seeds of dodder and red sorrel. Almost as bad was a lot of home-grown red clover seed offered for sale by a southern Indiana firm that contained 22,550 plantain seeds per pound. A farmer using seed of this character has little chance of producing profitable crops. Numerous samples tested contained no noxious weed seeds and as low as 90 weed seeds per pound was not uncommon.

A study of the germinating capacity of the seeds analyzed revealed some startling information. The germination ranged all the way from 1 per cent in the case of a sample of English rye grass (incidentally 90 per cent germination was claimed for this seed by the seller) to 99.5 per cent. One lot of alsike clover seed germinated 56.5 per cent and contained 46,000 weed seeds per pound, including 600 Canada thistle seeds and 3,450 red sorrel seeds per pound. Such seed would be expensive even as a gift. Think of seeding about 5,000 Canada thistle seeds per acre together with a strain of clover so weakened that nearly half the seed cannot sprout!

Bulletin 264 is now available for free distribution to citizens of Indiana and may be obtained by addressing the Purdue Agricultural Experiment Station, Lafayette, Indiana. It should be in the hands of all retailers of farm seeds, Farm Bureau officials and all progressive farmers, particularly the farmers who purchase seeds in quantity.

The Value of Club Work

By MILLARD LABOR HALL
(From the Purdue Agriculturist)

Eighteen thousand Indiana boys and girls between the ages of ten and eighteen received practical instruction through club work in 1921. Three thousand of the above number raised pigs, eight thousand were enrolled in the garden project, three thousand in projects for girls, eleven hundred in corn, four hundred in dairy work, and three hundred and fifty in the beef project. Several hundred boys and girls were enrolled in other projects not mentioned. Indiana was first in enrollment among the thirty-three northern and Western States according to the Washington report. The benefits or value of such a large organization cannot be told completely. A few outstanding advantages come to the foreground, however, and it is these that we wish to mention.

Experience gained through conducting a project is one factor of direct value to the boy or girl. The club member actually does the work in connection with the project thus learning by experience the things that will prove valuable to him in later years. One author has said, "He is best educated who knows most of the experience of others." In addition to gaining the personal experience the club member gets this experience of others by studying books, bulletins, and from trained vocational teachers and club leaders. An important consideration is the fact that the boy and girl in club work obtain this experience while young. Thus when they become men and women and assume larger responsibilities they do not have to lose several very profitable years obtaining this necessary experience, but can apply their club experience immediately and realize greater profits than the man or woman who was not a club member.

Club boys and girls are instructed as to the correct way of doing things. They know how and why it should be done a certain way thus realizing greater rewards than the boy or girl not possessing this knowledge. Charles Schwab maintains that "Knowledge is power." Club work aims not only to give knowledge, but in addition experience which aids in equipping the boy and girl for a successful life.

Another factor in club work of direct value to the country boy or girl is that of ownership. It has often been stated that the number of boys and girls leaving the farm is appalling. How can this rash of the boys and girls to the cities be stopped? Farm life must be made more interesting and attractive. One way is arranging for the boy and girl to actually own something on the farm, instead of letting them believe it is their own until selling time and then suddenly discover it to be dad's. Every boy or girl has the ambition to have something of good quality that they may call their own. Club work provides that the boy or girl must own the thing around which the project is built. Thus, club members take an interest and pride not only in the pig, calf or garment which the project requires but also in the farm activities related to that club activity. This ownership of livestock, crops or garments of high quality is essential to obtain the pride and interest of the worth-while boy or girl.

A leading Indiana livestock breeder states that club work enables the boy or girl to determine what activity he likes, thus proving of great value to that boy or girl. If boys and girls enroll in club work at about ten years of age several projects will be conducted by them before they are beyond club age. A boy may believe he would like dairy cattle, but upon trying the dairy project decide he would like another such as the beef project which he tries and finds to be of greater interest to him. This saves that boy, when a man, from investing heavily in dairy cattle and making a miserable failure due to lack of interest. Many men and women practically lose several years of their life before they find the work they enjoy. Club work helps to save these useful years.

Training for leadership through club work is of direct value not only to the club member but also to the community. At no time does the rural community, state, or nation need competent leaders as they do now. Theodore Roosevelt said, "If you wish to make a man you must begin before he is a man." Several hundred clubs are organized over the state of Indiana, each with its president, vice-president, secretary-treasurer and several committees. Meetings are held during the year with the officers in charge. This gives an opportunity for the boys and girls to learn how to conduct a meeting and lead a group of people in a business like way. Many adult organizations are led by men who are not experienced and do not have the knowledge required for such leadership. A large percent of club members are led to see the advantages of going to a University where they join the small group of trained men and women who become the leaders in their state and counties, officers of farm bureaus, and hold many other influential positions.

Many advantages of club work cannot be mentioned or their value estimated, for instance, the association of the boys and girls through club work. Perhaps the most important community value of club work is the teaching of the value of cooperation. Young people have no preconceived prejudices and petty jealousies, hence will cooperate more effectively if given the opportunity. Today cooperative organizations for farmers are being advocated very strongly. The opposing forces, however, point out that farmers are individualistic, which makes it difficult for them to operate as a unit. Club work is helping to remove this objection by organizing the boys and girls when they are young and unprejudiced, and getting them to work together. They are at an impressionable age and will not forget this organization and the benefits derived, when they grow to be men and women. They will realize the value of cooperating, making it easier to successfully organize and operate such organizations as the Farmer's Federation, and similar organizations. A little time spent with junior organizations insures the future of present day organizations if they are fundamentally sound. Upon the boys and girls depends the character of our country tomorrow. Any organization that improves the character and efficiency of these boys and girls is valuable beyond estimate.

HOG FLU

By F. J. CASON

(Veterinary Department, Purdue University).

Cy Jones went out one chilly morn and threw his hogs their daily corn. A few got up out of their bed the rest laid still as if quite dead. Quoth Farmer Jones "Now what is this, there seems to be something amiss; this don't look good to Jones," says he, "Whatever can the trouble be?" He climbed the fence in double quick and gave each lazy pig a kick. They got up slowly as if stiff, with many a cough and wheeze and sniff. They'd hump their backs and stand and cough then wander over to the watering trough. With every move they'd stop and cough, 'till you'd think their heads were coming off. Now Neighbor Brown just happened by and stopped to say a word to Cy. He took a look into the pen, and knew the trouble there and then. "Cy, your hogs have got the 'flu' and I can tell you what to do. My hogs had this same thing, you know, just about a year ago. When they got sick I didn't tarry, but sent at once for a veterinarian. He came right out and called it 'flu', and told me everything to do." "Get them into a good warm shed, and give them plenty of dry clean bed; plenty of water, nothing to eat until they all get on their feet. For five or six days keep them quiet, then give them just a light slop diet for a day or two both night and morn, then start them in on a little corn." "I did what he said right straight through, and only lost a pig or two. And Cy, there's one thing more he said, I ought to have a good hog shed. And the more I look at this sick bunch, I think we'd better take his hunch."

THE RICHEST FRUITAGE:
The fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, longsuffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance; against such there is no law.
—Gal. 5: 22, 23.

Bayonets and Pitchforks

A conspicuous feature of the French invasion of the Ruhr is the entire absence of the League of Nations and a construction, or misconception, of the Treaty of Versailles to warrant the action. It is because of this misconception that the other nations attribute "sinister motives" on the part of France—something more than the payment of the reparation claims. At all events France has evidently concluded that the way to restore economic stability to war-shattered Europe is to compel payments—even at the point of the bayonet.

Whether this be correct or not remains to be determined by results. It has started something—but heaven only knows what.

The international bank group in America, and hundreds of economic students, read the atmosphere with demands to "do something" but to this date no tangible plan has been offered—and none will be possible unless and until France is willing to ask for it, or to "listen in" as it were.

In 1914 German militarism appeared to be a menace to the world, and America sacrificed the lives of some 65,000 of her young manhood on the fields of France, besides advancing and spending some twenty-two thousand millions of dollars in an effort to subdue or destroy this military machine that threatened other nations.

And what is the result? France seems to have taken the place of Germany as a military menace. France today has a larger navy than Germany ever possessed, and has more men in the army or subject to call than Germany had in 1914. France refused to endorse the recent Washington disarmament agreement, and believes in bayonet rule.

Time was when "the pen was mightier than the sword," but in these days of "controlled pens", another power, even more potent than the pen or sword, has come to be recognized—the American farmer's pitchfork.

The farmer has always been a tremendous power in America; and in November last he asserted his power more aggressively than usual. The pitchfork charged upon the polls, and drove scores of conservatives from office. No one heralded that pitchfork invasion at the time as "one of the most important events of European history" since the armistice. But it was; and the coming year may show how much more vitally important it was than the more spectacular French invasion of the Ruhr. Those farmers were voting for quick and direct action to restore prosperity to farming.

Woman's Standard of Beauty

Bobbed hair lacks dignity and therefore no matronly woman of self respect would wear it. The tousled head should go and be supplanted with the clean cut, sculptured coiffure with hair net.

This is the verdict of the women of the United States speaking through hundreds of club presidents and federation officials, representing two million club women of the United States. It is the result of a symposium conducted by Penrhyn, Stanlaws, the artist, in order to ascertain what standard of beauty American women have set for themselves.

The almost unanimous opinion was that bobbed hair was not inappropriate for the flapper age, but that the girl of eighteen should allow her hair to grow long and take on more dignified airs.

Bobbed hair as a fad began to pass some months ago, but some women still cling to it on the pretense that it is more sensible because of time saved in doing up the hair.

Most women will agree that bobbed hair was not desired because it standardizes and because of it many women lost their individuality. Methods of wearing the hair express personality in every way and she who bobbed just to be in style lost much of her charm.

Flatrock is "raging" and is up and out of its banks—in places where it was easy to get out. There is a raise of from two to three feet caused by the melting snow and ice. Ulysses L. Weeks died at his home in West Fifth street at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon after a prolonged illness of over a year.

Osborn of Greensburg who stood before the happy faced assemblage and gave them some truths about "Our Jim."

Income Tax Facts

In the returns of married persons many errors have been discovered because of the failure to account for the aggregate net income of husband, wife, and dependent minor children. For example, John Smith, an artisan, had a net income for 1922 of $2,100. His wife earned $1,400 as a stenographer, and two sons 15 and 17 years old earned $720 each as messengers. The exemption is $2,500, the family income being less than $5,000 plus a $400 credit for each dependent son, a total of $3,300. Deducted from $4,940, the combined family income, this leaves a taxable net income of $1,640, which however, may be further reduced by deductions of payments of interest, contributions, bad debts, etc., to be fully explained later.

Separate returns may be made by husband and wife, or they may make a combined return. In the event separate returns are made either husband or wife may claim the exemption allowed married persons, or they may divide it between them in such proportion as they choose. The one contributing the chief support may claim the $400 for each dependent.

The $400 credit for dependents is allowed only when such person is under 18 years of age or incapable of self support because mentally or physically defective. In the above example the sons are dependents because both are under 18 years of age. They have not been "emancipated" and their parents have not abandoned their right to the son's earnings, which therefore must be included in the parents return.

SPORTS FOR THE WINTER

WRESTLING
INDOOR TRACK

Mallory-Lenglen Fight is on

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, Feb. 6.—She may be a popular champion but Mrs. Molla Mallory, the queen of the American tennis court, is a good sport.

If she did not have the reputation for being such, she might be thought rather scheming in her sudden decision to go gaming after her rival Mlle. Suzanne Lenglen this winter, instead of waiting until summer.

Her campaign, however, may be regarded as strategic.

Mlle Suzanne takes her five winter tournaments as sort of social activities that enable her to disport her new wardrobe and get in condition leisurely for the hard summer campaign ending at Wimbledon.

Opposition in the winter tournaments for the flashy French queen has always been so negligible that she could revel in the exhibition of her charms and her rare skill at tennis.

The dashing Suzanne had been taking things ever more easily this year. She has a heart to look after now and competition without the urge of strong opposition sometimes becomes a bore for the temperamental athlete.

Anyway, Suzanne was taken by surprise recently when she was almost defeated by the English star, Mrs. Beamish and later her escape from young Miss Dorothy Turner-Laing was just as close.

The tennis critics said that Suzanne wasn't on her game, but that she was a wise little champion in working up by degrees for the defense of her title at Wimbledon.

All of a sudden then up pops Mrs. Mallory with the announcement that she is going to Europe the first week of February to compete in the same five tournaments and that she was not going to play at Wimbledon.

While she would not admit of any personal designs, Mrs. Mallory did not deny the possibility of meeting the French girl in one of the five tournaments.

Mrs. Mallory has been planning for a long time to engage in the mid-winter classics and it is not her fault that the French girl is not on her top form.

Miller Huggins, the little manager of the New York Yanks, shoved back in his chair a few days ago and heaved a big sigh of relief.

The Miller had acquired a left handed pitcher in the person of young Suggs from Atlanta and Miller had suddenly decided that he had to have a southpaw pitcher for the next pennant race.

It is often what we haven't that we want most. Huggins had one of the best young left handed prospects in the big leagues for two years—Lefty O'Doul—and he never gave him a chance. He traded Lefty to the Red Sox and then tried to put over a $50,000 deal with the Vernon club for Jakey May, a portside that O'Doul could pitch the ears off.

The next time that William Muldoon, the czar of boxing in New York, speaks of Tom Gibbons as being too light for Jack Dempsey, he might tell an interested public, which perhaps has forgotten, how much Kilrain weighed when he fought Corbett. Muldoon ought to know. He was Kilrain's second.

Hittin' 'Em & Missin' 'Em

Although the Rushville sectional winner drew a bye in the regional at Ft. Wayne, it might be bye-bye, when the game is over.

The Indianapolis papers didn't know there was a town in Indiana by the name of Moscow, until the basketball tourney, but that's nothing, they didn't know anything about Sandusky until the Decatur county lads went to the state tourney.

LIKE MOSCOW FOR INSTANCE

Newcastle is wondering why they can't stir up enough interest in their burg to hold a county tourney. Hittin' 'em would advise them to lay off of it, because their reputation might be ruined by some unknown hamlet. Maybe Luray, away up north, would surprise 'em.

A HUMAN STEPLADDER

Hungerford, that Moscow heavyweight, who would hold another player up on his shoulders to the level of the basket, ought to be named Hercules. We'd feel sorry for the fellow on top, if Hercules' foot would slip. But pity the basketball player who would happen to get caught underneath 'em.

John Geraghty of Webb will have to consult Milroy about the lettering on the cup now.

NOT A MEAN FELLOW THOUGH

POSTPONED FOR A YEAR

A high school scribe writes us as follows: "The pep meeting or recognition meeting which is generally held on Monday morning after a tournament to present the cup was not held yesterday morning up at school. The presentation of the cup has been indefinitely postponed, possibly until next year about this time. That will make the thing a lot more appreciated than if it was just stuck up there now without keeping everyone in suspense for awhile. The seniors will be invited back, and a gala event made of the affair. Hittin' 'em sure hopes that you high school fellows can win the cup next year. But even at that, you fellows ought to give Moscow some kind of a trophy for second prize."

WHAT'S YOUR GUESS ON THESE FOUR GAMES

on Cathedral comes here Friday night, and on a week from Friday the Garfield team of Terre Haute will play here. The last two games are away from home, with February 23 at Anderson, and February 24 at Elwood. The last three teams are state timber, and will be hard ones to cope with.

SAY GANG, PRACTICE ON THE BASKET THIS WEEK.

SHELBYVILLE IS STILL CRYING ABOUT SOMETHING

A special delivery letter, written on Rapp Brothers letterhead from Shelbyville, has been received here, and reads as follows: "A few days ago I had the pleasure of reading your article describing the Rushville-Shelby game. You wrote exactly what we thought you would. We fully realized you couldn't say anything good about Shelby, but on reading farther down the column, I see where you pick Jess Willard to beat Jack Dempsey. I fully realized there was something wrong, possibly a screw loose or something else, but old boy, day by day in every way, we are picking Rushville to win the state tourney. Also see where your boys were off just a little with Elwood. (Signed)—A Shelby Booster. Shelbyville 45; Muncie 24. Atta Boy! How does it look? Well, old Booster, we can't figure out how a Rapper, could be a booster, or we can't figure out how Muncie got beat so bad, unless they had an off night, or else Shelby was still good. Day by day in every way, we want to see just how far you will go in the state tourney. Hittin' 'em knows it will be Shelbyville's maiden trip, but we dare say there will be a few others, just as strong, and several points stronger. We gotta team over here in Rush county, Moscow, which could beat Shelbyville any old day, after they got started."

Say, old booster, did you ever stop to think that you fellows wouldn't have any team at all, if it wasn't for Rush county? Hedges and Barnett, both from Homer, are the mainstays on your team, and we're for 'em all the time.

KEEP MAILIN' 'EM TO HITTIN' 'EM.

We never did hear how Carthage came out at the Knights-town tourney. We're still pickin' Greensburg to win the tourney at Carthage next Saturday.

Marion had the best of Newcastle

Saturday night, but that's nothing Newcastle. Marion had the best of Rushville last spring at the state tourney.

ANOTHER CHANCE TO WIN A CUP ANYWAY

Moscow had good practice here Saturday, and will know how to perform at the Tri-State tournament in Cincinnati February 16 and 17. You fellows don't want to wilt so fast after your first hard game, but stand up and fight harder than ever. Take care of 'em Mr. Means, and work 'em hard for that big event.

FOR STRICT CONSERVATION

Pres. Harding Aligns Himself With Wallace On Forest Policy

Washington, Feb. 6. —President Harding today gave his open support to a policy of strict conservation of the American dwindling forest reserve.

In a letter to Representative Clarke of New York, the president appealed "for a large cooperation between the federal government and the state authorities and private owners of timberland, for a national conservation policy to protect and conserve the fast dwindling forest areas of the country."

The president in his letter virtually aligned himself with the forges backing Secretary Wallace in his fight to prevent the transfer of the forest bureau Secretary Fall's department of the interior.

eridge and Watson Mentioned as Successors To Mr. Harding.

"They are afraid," said Senator Harrison, referring to Senator Watson, "that his clarion voice will ring out and he will make such a record in this body that it might give to him the cards in the next Republican convention."

Senator Watson took the floor immediately in reply. "I have no doubt," said he, "that the Senator from Mississippi would be glad to see any sort of opposition to the President of the United States, but it will not be."

"My own thought is that if Mr. Harding wants to be renominated for President he ought to be and will be, because the Republican party must stand on the record we have made, the record of his administration. It is not possible to stand on the record of the Administration and yet repudiate the head of the Administration."

"When 1924 comes around the forces of the Republican party, notwithstanding any seeming division which my friend may find in the ranks at this time, will be united and militant. They will stand upon a platform that will command the great regard of the great body of the American people and they will nominate, in my judgment, the present President of the United States without any opposition in the Republican convention."

"We stand upon the record made by Congress and by the President, by the legislative and the administrative branches of the government. It is not possible for any party to nominate somebody else than the President of the United States and yet appeal to the people to support the party on the record made by the administration of which the President is the head."

"I have no doubt in my mind that the President of the United States will be a candidate for renomination, nor have I any doubt that he will be renominated by the convention when it meets. So much for that. I am obliged to my good friend for having mentioned my name in connection with that exalted position. It is a compliment from him, if announced in a facetious and jocular vein."

"I am very glad," interrupted Senator Harris, "that the Senator stopped at the renomination of Mr. Harding, and he did not venture to indicate the outcome."

"That is as far as it is necessary to go now," replied the Senator from Indiana. "The other details will be looked after in the future."

Senator Harrison's speech also called for a disclaimer from Senator Lodge that any change had been in the Senate floor leadership.

With reference to the Senate leadership fight, Senator Watson said:

"If the Senator from Massachusetts wants to be leader, and there is no reason why he should not be, I am for him this Congress and in the next that is to come. Everybody understands the ability of the Senator, his great knowledge of parliamentary law, his statesmanship and his capacity for leadership. I do not intend, in so far as I am concerned, even in a facetious speech, to have it go out to the country that there is any division or discord on this side with reference to the leadership of the Senator from Massachusetts."

"And there is no more sorrow and no more death in this land of an unaccountable hope."

The sermon closed with an appeal to men to respond to the love of God as it has been manifested towards us in Jesus Christ, Love was set forth as the climax of attainment, as the essence of Christianity, as the motive that explains the facts of the gospel and of Christian history.

The attendance last night was very good for Monday night, since, as the speaker explained, the men were tired after the peculiar experiences incident to the average home on that day. The man from Richmond in his modesty and self depreciation, marvels at the attention he gets from the audience every night.

The pastor does not wonder at that on the part of his own people; but the surprising thing is that every one who comes in falls under the same spell. The explanation is to be found in the personality of the speaker, his peculiar way of presenting the truth, and the freshness of the message.

He will speak again tonight on the theme "What I Need to Believe". An urgent invitation is extended to every one to come to the services.

So Writes Woman After Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Jamestown, N. Y.—"I was nervous, easily excited and discouraged and had no ambition. Part of the time I was not able to sit up as I suffered with pains in my back and with weakness. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, both the liquid and tablet forms, and used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash for inflammation. Today I am real well and run a rooming house and do the work. I recommend your medicine to every woman who complains, and you may use my letter to help any one else. I am passing through the Change of Life now and I keep the Vegetable Compound in the house, ready to take when I feel the need of it."—Mrs. ALICE D. DAVIS, 293 W. Second St., Jamestown, N. Y.

Often some slight derangement may cause a general upset condition of the whole system, indicated by such symptoms as nervousness, backache, lack of ambition and general weakness.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will be found a splendid medicine for such troubles. In many cases it has removed the cause of the trouble.

AMUSEMENTS

Earle Williams At Mystic

Earle Williams has a somewhat different production in "The Man From Downing street," which will be shown at the Mystic Theatre again today. This production was directed by Edward Jose who has won a reputation for directing big pictures. Betty Ross Clarke appears opposite Mr. Williams in the leading feminine role. Williams impersonates an East Indian rajah during the greater part of the piece, and wears some exceptionally elaborate robes, many of which were imported from India.

In the leading character Williams has the role of a British secret service agent who is endeavoring to discover a traitorous leakage of code messages from England. In the course of investigation he meets the beautiful daughter of an army officer. It appears that as she is of the "west" and he is of the "east," their love affair cannot materialize to the desired point. Everything ends happily enough when, after his work has successfully been accomplished, the rajah become an Englishman again and meets the girl under favorable circumstances.

Sea Pictures At Princess

Appearing in one of the strongest sea picture ever screened, Dorothy Dalton and Jack Holt, featured players, will be seen in Paramount's "On the High Seas" at the Princess theatre again today. The action opens on an ocean liner, which is wrecked and the principal players are saved in a leaky boat when almost dead from thirst and exhaustion, run upon a derelict which is deserted save for a black kitten, all on board having died from a plague. On this ship many incidents ensue as the storm arises and beastly passion becomes uppermost in the mind of Polack, the burly stoker, who attacks the girl, a woman of big station and is worsted in a fight by Jim, the other stoker, who at the finish of the story proves to be a wealthy man who had worked his way back on the liner in search of adventure. Jim and the girl are finally rescued from the derelict as it is about to sink and taken back to port, where they again resume their social positions of lady and stoker, until in the surprise finish Jim kidnaps the girl and then reveals his real identity.

100 WAYS To Make Money

By BILLY WINNER

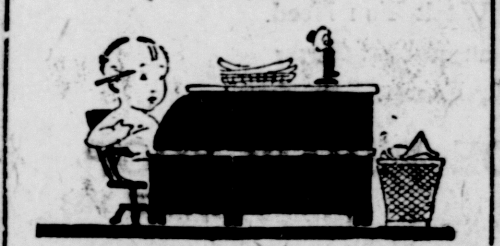

If I Wanted to Be a Business Broker—

I COULD get started with very little capital. All I would need is desk space and a few dollars to start advertising in The Daily Republican Classified Section.

I'd run my Want Ad and tell the Daily Republican readers that I would sell their businesses for them—get their stores, offices, rooming houses, apartments and factories sold and rented. There are many other things I could do as a business broker.

Then when I got some clients I would use The Daily Republican Classified Section again to dispose of the property. My commissions would net me a neat income.

The Daily Republican would be my agent and salesman.

DEMOCRATS FIGHT AN UPHILL BATTLE

BY MAJORITY OF ONE VOTE

Republican Representatives Balk

(By United Press)

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 6.—Republican strength was in the balance
in the state house of representatives
today during consideration of measures appropriating sixteen million
dollars for the maintenance of the state government.

By a vote of 47 to 46—a republican majority of only one—a democratic move to knock out the two million dollar appropriation for the new reformatory at Pendleton was
along party lines in that question as
well as on all other questions of appropriations that came up during

Representative Gottschalk, democratic floor leader, moved to amend
a bill to prohibit use of any of the
governor's contingent fund in construction of the new reformatory.
Representative Pittenger moved to
table the motion and the vote was on
his motion.

for the bill with the exception of a number of amendments agreed to be
the administration.

The fight started with two republicans absent.

An amendment made by Representative Kenney, democrat, to strike out the governor's emergency
contingent fund was lost when a
motion to table the amendment was
carried by a vote of 50 to 46.

A reduction of $213,000 was approved when amendments made by Republican leaders were carried. The reductions were made in the governor's emergency contingent fund for
board appropriation from $100,000 to $80,000 and the historical commission appropriation from $18,000 to $15,000.

Consideration of the measure
hardly got under way this morning
when the house adjourned. It recon-
vened this afternoon.

store" or "pharmacy" only two stores licensed in the state and having licensed clerks was passed by a vote of 20 to 18. The bill was introduced by Senator Dunn.

The narrow republican majority of
the state house of representatives
was pledged today to pilot Governor

bility the jury will not be used as
much as in former court terms.

This morning the petition of Jacob

Shows Best Attendance of Any of

FURTHER STATISTICS GIVEN

For First Semester With 98.2
Percent Present

In the 9 one-room school houses
in Rush county, the Gahimer school
had the best attendance for the
first school semester and of the four
two-room buildings in the county,
the building at Mays, heads the list.
age was 99.4 and at the Mays school
it was 98.2 percent.

The report covering these schools
has been completed by B. D. Farthing
county school superintendent, who
township consolidated schools.

There are 462 pupils enrolled in
the 9 one-room buildings and 4 two-
room buildings. The Freeman and Sumner one-room buildings rank
close seconds to the Gahimer school,
and the Walnut Ridge two room
building is a close second to the Mays school, in the record for attendance.

In commenting upon the report,
Mr. Farthing states as follows: "It
is to be noted the single and double
room buildings have rapidly disappeared in the past few years, giving
way to township consolidated buildings, but in a few localities of the
county, the single and double-room
buildings are still used on account
of the lack of transportation and
the distance from remote places to
the consolidated schools.

Booker T. Washington, and the Gary
school both one-room buildings, has
an enrollment each of 19 pupils,
which is the least in the county. The Alexander school has 28 pupils, being the largest in attendance for one-
room school, while the Gahimer
school is a close second with 27
pupils.

In the two-room buildings, the Circleville school in Rushville township, ranks the highest in enrollment
with 85, and Richland school ranks
second with 78. The Freeman and Gary schools had a perfect record
on tardies for the semester, and are in a class with Moscow, Webb and Center for not having any tardy pupils.

"The Applegate school in the one-
room class headed the list for tardi-

DR. EMERSON BARNUM IS ALMOST SCALPED

Manilla Physician Runs Into Pennsylvania Engine With Automobile Monday Evening

Dr. Emerson Barnum of Manilla
was almost scalped Monday evening
when an automobile he was driving
train engine at the principal crossing
injuries except those on his head and
is expected to recover unless an infection develops, according to physicians who were called.

Dr. Barnum became confused when
the train crossed the street on which
stop his machine, which was upset
and hurled against the Manilla bank
the street obscure the view of the
railroad at the crossing where the accident happened.

Dr. Barnum's scalp was cut by broken glass and he was severely
engine. The train was the one which is due in Rushville at 6:40 o'clock,
northbound.

Dr. Barnum is forty years old and
is married. He is a son of Dr. W.
E. Barnum of Manilla, who retired
as coroner of Rush county January 1, this year.

CHIEF APPEAL THROUGH BIBLE

mitting Divine Origin

Presents an Unaccountable Man, Unaccountable Hope, Love, Activity
and Motive

On Monday night the Rev. W. Mc-
Clean Work preached at the First
11:26.

"And the disciples were called Christians first in Antioch." Cutting
short the introduction the speaker
plunged quickly into the discussion
of the theme—"What is Christian-
ity?"

"It was given an unique place
among the great world religions," he
said. "Its appeal is principally
through the Book, the record of re-
deemed men and especially of the redeeming Christ. The facts of the
than by admitting its divine origin,
and the supernatural agency that

"The gospels present an unac-countable man. We can explain every other great character of history
by what he has in common with the rest of humanity, but not so of Jesus Christ. His birth was different.
His teachings were from a different
friends and followers was ruinous,
from any merely human viewpoint.
His appeal was to every man and to
death on the cross, at the hands of
his enemies, can not be explained if
his object were to establish a world
empire. Man's reason never can account for the Christ as a man.

"The Acts present an unaccount-
able activity. Humanly speaking the
number of his disciples, increased
rapidly. Peter's sermon won 3000 in one day. Soon the disciples were scattered abroad and as they went
they preached Christ. All the power of the Jewish nation could not sur-
pass the rising sect.

"The Epistles present an unac-countable motive. Self interest did
not stay the followers of the Christ.
their cause. Against all sorts of
discouraging circumstances they
went forward to their task. The motive that drove them on was not a
motive that would appeal to the ordinary man.

"The book of Prophecy fosters an
unaccountable hope. They were content to labor on and suffer on with-
out hope of recognition, or honor, or
success, or appreciation, or any re-
compense, so far as anyone could
see. Neither Jew, nor Greek; nor Roman could understand why the disciples should thus sacrifice every
other interest.

"They hoped for immortality.
Death had no terror for them for
went willingly to the block since
some hope, unknown to most men,
sustained them.

"The love that these followers of Jesus Christ manifested was unaccountable. They loved their enemies and were willing to die that they might be saved. They loved one another as if members of the same
family. And they loved their absent
Lord and were willing to give up
everything that he might be honored.

velation, we find an unaccountable
hope, it is the hope of a land where
there shall be no more sin. It is sin
that has brought destruction upon
time.

"And there is the hope of a land
where there shall be no more curse.
Sin came into the world, and the
ground was cursed and brought forth
and bred disease, love was cured and
degenerated into lust, power was

Pardon Board

Charley Sweet, convicted in the Rush circuit court of violation of the prohibition laws, has filed a plea
for clemency before the state board
of pardons, and his petition is one of
the 38 new pleas which have been presented to the board.

The Rushville man, it will be recalled, was arrested last fall, and
appeared several weeks ago before Judge Sparks and changed his plea
from not guilty, to guilty, and re-
of 90 days at the state farm. The
fine and sentence amounted to more
than 220 days.

TURKEY BACKS DOWN ON STAND

To Accept Judicial Safeguards,
Point In Dispute

Paris, Feb. 6.—Turkey has cap-
itulated on the chief point under dispute at the Lausanne conference,
and threat of immediate war in the Near East is somewhat further
averted.

After the British had withdrawn
from the parley and the French had
made preparations to follow, Ismet Pasha, Turkish spokesman apparently realized he had made a mistake.

The Turks sent word to Paris by
M. Vompard, French delegate, as follows:

"I am ready to accept judicial safeguards. I understand that the allies agree to defer economic clauses

Word to this effect was immediately forwarded to London, according
British cabinet was considering the
situation in the light of Britain being
called upon to defend her interests
in the Near East.

Ismet Pasha intimated he now
feels the next move should come from
the allies. Until France and Britain
agree as to what shall be done, continuance or abandonment of the Lau-
sanne parley is in the balance.

turn to Ankara to confer with his government. He is anxious to have
the conference resumed.

The Rev. Gibson Wilson Shows Close
Connection Between Two At

The business of the church and its
relation to all business was discussed by the Rev. Gibson Wilson, new pastor of the First Presbyterian church, at the noon meeting of the Rotary club at the Social club today.

Previous to the address, the club
discussed plans for sending a delegation of Rotarians to the annual Indiana conference which will be held
at Michigan City February 21 and 22. At least ten and probably more
will go from the Rushville club.

The Rev. Mr. Wilson said that the church was interested in making
better lives, better characters and
better homes and that it took the
lead in the field of higher education,
by continually urging its young
people to devote their lives to service.

The minister asserted that where
the churches are prosperous, business is always good. He referred to
the part the church had played in
bringing about prohibition and other
reforms, and added that this one reform alone had resulted in improving
business because more money was
saved for legitimate business since
the liquor business had been out-
lawed.

Senator Watson Predicts He Will be

SPIRITED SENATE DEBATE

Prophecy of Indiana Senator, Himself Mentioned as Candidate,
Made During Partisan Tilt

Washington, Feb. 6.—President
Harding's renomination without opposition by the Republican National Convention in 1924 was proclaimed
to the Senate this afternoon by Senator James E. Watson, of Indiana,
a staunch Administration Senator and
close friend of the President.

field of prophecy came near the
close of a spirited partisan debate,
participated in by Senator Pat Harrison, of Mississippi, whose humorous references to recent newspaper
accounts of contemplated changes
in the majority leadership of the Senate kept that body in an uproar
for more than half an hour.

elevation of Senators James W.
Watworth, of New York, and Irvine L. Lenroot, of Wisconsin, to
Henry Cabot Lodge, of Massachusetts, as evidence that heroic measures are to be adopted to weld the
divergent groups of Republicans in
the Senate into a united force for
the forthcoming presidential campaign.

Harrison deplored what he char-
Senators Charles Curtis, of Kansas, Republican whip, and Watson, of Indiana, intimating that the reputed
presidential aspirations of the latter
and of Senator Arthur S. Capper, of Kansas, Senator Curtis's colleague,
might have been responsible for their
undoing at this time.

In support of the Watson presidential boom, the Mississippi Senator
quoted from a newspaper dispatch

missioners When James Adams

John Wolters of this city was appointed constable for Rushville
township by the county board of commissioners at the regular February meeting Monday. James Adams was elected constable on the republican ticket last November, but failed to qualify and file his bond,
making the appointment necessary.
Wolters was the democratic candidate and was defeated by Adams.

In addition to awarding the contract for the James Heifner road in Ripley township, the commissioners
also placed on file a petition of Charles Leisure and others for a
new road on the Jackson-Posey
township line and ordered new plans
and specification to be drawn for the Harry McManus road in Jackson
township.

A review of the road was ordered
on the petition of the petitioners and Charles R. Oldham of Center town-
ship was appointed a viewer in place of George H. Bell, who was disqualified on account of being a member of the board of commissioners now. The other viewer is John
A. Nelson of Posey township. The petition was filed in 1920 but the
road was never ordered.

Several constables for the Horse
Thief Detective association were appointed as follows: Jess C. Scott, of
the New Salem branch; George W.
Brown, A. M. Kennedy, Kanerda
Jones, Clifford Cameron, Ross Logan, William Arnold, Walter Crull,
borne, W. H. Callaghan, Gny Aber-

Quiet Today

(By United Press)

Muenster, Feb. 6.—Two Germans
were killed by French troops in the
newly occupied territory today, according to reports from Weisbaden.

Outside of these isolated instances
the Ruhr and Rhineland were quiet,
the French having failed to put in
to effect their threat to cut traffic on
the Berlin-Switzerland main line,
north of Baden.

Germany refuses to enforce resumption of the international train
service on the Paris-Prague and the Paris-Orient lines and France has
threatened to prevent rail traffic to
Finance Minister Hermes came to the Ruhr today following return of Chancellor Cuno to Berlin.

Germany will hold out to the last
Chancellor Cuno, touring the occupied
areas and those threatened with invasion, pledged in a speech here last night.

EMPHASIZED BY PURDUE

TESTS REVEALED MUCH IMPURE SEED

Largely Through Efforts Of Inspectors Of Purdue

Great Deal Of Seed Tested Was Sufficiently High In Purity To Come In High Class

Some light is thrown on it by Purdue University Bulletin 264 entitled "Inspection of Agricultural Seeds" which is just off the press. The Seed Law is being made effective largely thru the efforts of a staff of inspectors who travel to all parts of the state taking samples of any seeds exposed for sale. The samples together with a copy of the data which the law requires on the tag, are forwarded to the Seed Laboratory of Purdue where the seed samples are analysed. If the analyses shows that the data on the label is incorrect, the dealer is required to relabel the seed correctly before it can be sold. The new bulletin gives in concise form the results of all the official analyses made during the first year the seed law was in operation.

Since the source of the seed is given, the bulletin is really a guide to where good seed can be purchased. To the local dealer who earnestly desires to supply his patrons with the best seed available, the bulletin is very valuable. The more this bulletin is used as a guide to the purchase of good seed, the greater will be the incentive for wholesalers to supply the best seed possible. When a firm offers its wares for sale a glance at the analysis of seed previously sold by the firm in question as reported in the bulletin will give some indication of the grade of the product.

seed 100% pure and 100% viable is not on the market. A great deal of seed tested, however, was sufficiently high in purity and germination to stamp it as high class seed. On the other hand, this bulletin also reveals that entirely too much low grade seed was offered for sale in Indiana during the year. One lot of blue grass seed shipped from Kentucky contained 135,000 weed seeds per pound, including such noxious weeds as sorrel, barn-born and curled dock. Worse than that was a lot of red clover seed from Wisconsin that contained 46,160 weed seeds per pound, including the seeds of dodder and red sorrel. Almost as bad was a lot of home-grown red clover seed offered for sale by a southern Indiana farmer that contained 22,550 plantain seeds per pound. A farmer using seed of this character has little chance of producing profitable crops. Numerous samples tested contained no noxious weed seeds and as low as 90 weed seeds per pound was not uncommon.

A study of the germinating capacity of the seeds analyzed revealed some startling information. The germination ranged all the way from 1 per cent in the case of a sample of English rye grass (incidentally 90 per cent germination was claimed for this seed by the seller) to 99.5 per cent. One lot of alsike clover seed germinated 56.5 per cent and contained 46,000 weed seeds per pound, including 600 Canada thistle seeds and 3,450 red sorrel seeds per pound. Such seed would be expensive even as a gift. Think of seeding about 5,000 Canada thistle seeds per acre together with a strain of clover so weakened that nearly half the seed cannot sprout!

Bulletin 264 is now available for free distribution to citizens of Indiana and may be obtained by addressing the Purdue Agricultural Experiment Station, Lafayette, Indiana. It should be in the hands of all retailers of farm seeds, Farm Bureau officials and all progressive farmers, particularly the farmers who purchase seeds in quantity.

By MILLARD LABOR HALL
(From the Purdue Agriculturalist)

Eighteen thousand Indiana boys and girls between the ages of ten and eighteen received practical instruction through club work in 1921. Three thousand of the above number raised pigs, eight thousand were enrolled in the garden project, three thousand in projects for girls, eleven hundred in corn, four hundred in dairy work, and three hundred and fifty in the beef project. Several hundred boys and girls were enrolled in other projects not mentioned. Indiana was first in enrollment among the thirty-three northern and western states according to the Washington report. The benefits or value of such a large organization cannot be told completely. A few outstanding advantages come to the foreground, however, and it is these that we wish to mention.

Experience gained through conducting a project is one factor of direct value to the boy or girl. The club member actually does the work in connection with the project thus learning by experience the things that will prove valuable to him in later years. One author has said: "He is best educated who knows most of the experience of others." In addition to gaining the personal experience the club member gets this experience of others by studying books, bulletins, and from trained vocational teachers and club leaders. An important consideration is the fact that the boy and girl in club work obtain this experience while young. This when they become men and women and assume larger responsibilities they do not have to lose several very profitable years obtaining this necessary experience, but can apply their club experience immediately and realize greater profits than the man or woman who was not a club member.

Club boys and girls are instructed as to the correct way of doing things. They know how and why it should be done. A certain way thus realizing greater rewards than the boy or girl not possessing this knowledge. Charles Schwab maintains that "Knowledge is power." Club work aims not only to give knowledge, but in addition experience which aids in equipping the boy and girl for a successful life.

Another factor in club work of direct value to the country boy or girl is that of ownership. It has often been stated that the number of boys and girls leaving the farm is appalling. How can this rush of the boys and girls to the cities be stopped? Farm life must be made more interesting and attractive. One way is arranging for the boy and girl to actually own something on the farm, instead of letting them believe it is their own until selling time and then suddenly discover it to be dad's. Every boy or girl has the ambition to have something of good quality that they may call their own. Club work provides that the boy or girl must own the thing around which the project is built. Thus, club members take an interest and pride not only in the pig, calf or garment which the project requires but also in the farm activities related to that club activity. This ownership of livestock, crops or garments of high quality is essential to obtain the pride and interest of the worth-while boy or girl.

A leading Indiana livestock breeder states that club work enables the boy or girl to determine what activity he likes, thus proving of great value to that boy or girl. If boys and girls enroll in club work at about ten years of age several projects will be conducted by them before they are beyond club age. A boy may believe he would like dairy cattle, but upon trying the dairy project decide he would like another such as the beef project which he tries and finds to be of greater interest to him. This saves that boy, when a man, from investing heavily in dairy cattle and making a miserable failure due to lack of interest. Many men and women practically lose several years of their life before they find the work they enjoy. Club work helps to save these useful years.

Training for leadership through club work is of direct value not only to the club member but also to the community. At no time does the rural community, state, or nation need competent leaders as they do now. Theodore Roosevelt said, "If you wish to make a man you must begin before he is a man." Several hundred clubs are organized over the state of Indiana, each with its president, vice-president, secretary, treasurer and several committees. Meetings are held during the year with the officers in charge. This gives an opportunity for the boys and girls to learn how to conduct a meeting and lead a group of people in a business like way. Many adult organizations are led by men who are not experienced and do not have the knowledge required for such leadership. A large percent of club members are led to see the advantages of going to a University where they join the small group of trained men and women who become the leaders in their state and counties, officers of farm bureaus, and hold many other influential positions.

Many advantages of club work cannot be mentioned or their value estimated, for instance, the association of the boys and girls through club work. Perhaps the most important community value of club work is the teaching of the value of cooperation. Young people have no preconceived prejudices and petty jealousies; hence will cooperate more effectively if given the opportunity. Today cooperative organizations for farmers are being advocated very strongly. The opposing forces, however, point out that farmers are individualistic, which makes it difficult for them to operate as a unit. Club work is helping to remove this objection by organizing the boys and girls when they are young and unprejudiced, and getting them to work together. They are at an impressionable age and will not forget this organization and the benefits derived, when they grow to be men and women. They will realize the value of cooperating, making it easier to successfully organize and operate such organizations as the Farmer's Federation, and similar organizations. A little time spent with junior organizations insures the future of present day organizations if they are fundamentally sound. Upon the boys and girls depends the character of our country tomorrow. Any organization that improves the character and efficiency of these boys and girls is valuable beyond estimate.

By F. J. CASON

Cy Jones went out one chilly morn and threw his hogs their daily corn. A few got up out of their bed the rest laid still as if quite dead. Quoth Farmer Jones "Now what is this, there seems to be something amiss; this don't look good to Jones," says he. "Whatever can the trouble be?" He climbed the fence in double quick and gave each lazy pig a kick. They got up slowly as if stiff, with many a cough and wheeze and sniff. They'd hump their backs and stand and cough then wander over to the watering trough. With every move they'd stop and cough, 'till you'd think their heads were coming off. Now Neighbor Brown just happened by and stopped to say a word to Cy. He took a look into the pen, and knew the trouble there and then. "Cy, your hogs have got the 'flu' and I can tell you what to do. My hogs had this same thing, you know, just about a year ago. When they got sick I didn't tarry, but sent at once for a veterinarian. He came right out and called it 'flu', and told me everything to do." "Get them into a good warm shed and give them plenty of dry clean bed; plenty of water, nothing to eat until they all get on their feet. For five or six days keep them quiet, then give them just a light slop diet for a day or two both night and morn, then start them in on a little corn." "I did what he said right straight through, and only lost a pig or two. And Cy, there's one thing more he said, I ought to have a good hog shed. And the more I look at this sick bunch, I think we'd better take his hunch."

A conspicuous feature of the French invasion of the Ruhr is the entire absence of the League of Nations and a construction, or misconception, of the Treaty of Versailles to warrant the action. It is because of this misconception that the other nations attribute "sinister motives" on the part of France—something more than the payment of the reparation claims. At all events France has evidently concluded that the way to restore economic stability to war-shattered Europe is to compel payments—even at the point of the bayonet.

Whether this be correct or not remains to be determined by results. It has started something—but heaven only knows what.

The international bank group in America, and hundreds of economic students, read the atmosphere with

demands to "do something" but to this date no tangible plan has been offered—and none will be possible unless, and until France is willing to ask for it, or to "listen in" as it were.

In 1914 German militarism appeared to be a menace to the world, and America sacrificed the lives of some 65,000 of her young manhood on the fields of France, besides advancing and spending some twenty-two thousand millions of dollars in an effort to subdue or destroy this military machine that threatened other nations.

And what is the result? France seems to have taken the place of Germany as a military menace. France today has a larger navy than Germany ever possessed, and has more men in the army or subject to call than Germany had in 1914. France refused to endorse the recent Washington disarmament agreement, and believes in bayonet rule.

Time was when "the pen was mightier than the sword," but in these days of "controlled pens," another power, even more potent than the pen or sword, has come to be recognized—the American farmer's pitchfork.

The farmer has always been a tremendous power in America; and in November last he asserted his power more aggressively than usual. The pitchfork charged upon the polls, and drove scores of conservatives from office. No one heralded that pitchfork invasion at the time as "one of the most important events of European history" since the armistice. But it was; and the coming year may show how much more vitally important it was than the more spectacular French invasion of the Ruhr. Those farmers were voting for quick and direct action to restore prosperity to farming.

Bobbed hair lacks dignity and therefore no matronly woman of self respect would wear it. The tousled head should go and be supplanted with the clean, cut, sculptured coiffure with hair net.

This is the verdict of the women of the United States speaking through hundreds of club presidents and federation officials, representing two million club women of the United States. It is the result of a symposium conducted by Penrhyn, Stanlaw, the artist, in order to ascertain what standard of beauty American women have set for themselves.

The almost unanimous opinion was that bobbed hair was not inappropriate for the flapper age, but that the girl of eighteen should allow her hair to grow long and take on more dignified airs.

Most women will agree that bobbed hair was not desired because it standardizes and because of it many women lost their individuality. Methods of wearing the hair express personality in every way and she who bobbed just to be in style lost much of her charm.

In the returns of married persons many errors have been discovered because of the failure to account for the aggregate net income of husband, wife, and dependent minor children. For example, John Smith, an artisan, had a net income for 1922 of $2,100. His wife earned $1,400 as a stenographer, and two sons 15 and 17 years old earned $720 each as messengers. The exemption is $2,500, the family income being less than $5,000 plus a $400 credit for each dependent son, a total of $3,300. Deducted from $4,940, the combined family income, this leaves a taxable net income of $1,640, which however, may be further reduced by deductions of payments of interest, contributions, bad debts, etc., to be fully explained later.

Separate returns may be made by husband and wife, or they may make a combined return. In the event separate returns are made either husband or wife may claim the exemption allowed married persons, or they may divide it between them in such proportion as they choose. The one contributing the chief support may claim the $400 for each dependent.

The $400 credit for dependents is allowed only when such person is under 18 years of age or incapable of self support because mentally or physically defective. In the above example the sons are dependents because both are under 18 years of age. They have not been "emancipated" and their parents have not abandoned their right to the son's earnings, which therefore must be included in the parents' return.

Mallory-Lenglen Fight is on

By HENRY L. PARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, Feb. 6—She may be a popular champion but Mrs. Molla Mallory, the queen of the American tennis court, is a good sport.

If she did not have the reputation for being such, she might be thought rather scheming in her sudden decision to go gaming after her rival Mlle. Suzanne Lenglen this winter, instead of waiting until summer.

Her campaign, however, may be regarded as strategic.

Mlle. Suzanne takes her five winter tournaments as sort of social activities that enable her to disport her new wardrobe and get in condition leisurely for the hard summer campaign ending at Wimbledon.

Opposition in the winter tournaments for the flashy French queen has always been so negligible that she could revel in the exhibition of her charms and her rare skill at tennis.

The dashing Suzanne had been taking things ever more easily this year. She has a heart to look after now and competition without the urge of strong opposition sometimes becomes a bore for the temperamental athlete.

Anyway, Suzanne was taken by surprise recently when she was almost defeated by the English star, Mrs. Beamish and later her escape from young Miss Dorothy Turner-Laing was just as close.

The tennis critics said that Suzanne wasn't on her game, but that she was a wise little champion in working up by degrees for the defense of her title at Wimbledon.

All of a sudden, then up pops Mrs. Mallory with the announcement that she is going to Europe the first week of February to compete in the same five tournaments and that she was not going to play at Wimbledon.

While she would not admit of any personal designs, Mrs. Mallory did not deny the possibility of meeting the French girl in one of the five tournaments.

Mrs. Mallory has been planning for a long time to engage in the mid-winter classics and it is not her fault that the French girl is not on her top form.

The Miller had acquired a left handed pitcher in the person of young Suggs from Atlanta and Miller had suddenly decided that he had to have a southpaw pitcher for the next pennant race.

It is often what we haven't that we want most. Huggins had one of the best young left handed prospects in the big leagues for two years—Lefty O'Doul—and he never gave him a chance. He traded Lefty to the Red Sox and then tried to put over a $50,000 deal with the Vernon club for Jake May, a portside that O'Doul could pitch the ears off.

The next time that William Muldoon, the czar of boxing in New York, speaks of Tom Gibbons as being too light for Jack Dempsey, he might tell an interested public, which perhaps has forgotten, how much Kilrain weighed when he fought Corbett. Muldoon ought to know. He was Kilrain's second.

The Indianapolis papers didn't know there was a town in Indiana by the name of Moscow, until the basketball tourney, but that's nothing, they didn't know anything about Sandusky until the Decatur county lads went to the state tourney.

LIKE MOSCOW FOR INSTANCE
Newcastle is wondering why they can't stir up enough interest in their burg to hold a county tourney. Hittin' 'em would advise them to lay off of it, because their reputation might be ruined by some unknown hamlet. Maybe Luray, away up north, would surprise 'em.

A HUMAN STEPLADDER
Hungerford, that Moscow heavy-weight, who would hold another player up on his shoulders to the level of the basket, ought to be named Hercules. We'd feel sorry for the fellow on top, if Hercules' foot would slip. But pity the basketball player who would happen to get caught underneath 'em.

John Geraghty of Webb will have to consult Milroy about the lettering on the cup now.

NOT A MEAN FELLOW THOUGH

POSTPONED FOR A YEAR
A high school scribe writes us as follows: "The pep meeting or recognition meeting which is generally held on Monday morning after a tournament to present the cup was not held yesterday morning up at school. The presentation of the cup has been indefinitely postponed, possibly until next year about this time. That will make the thing a lot more appreciated than if it was just stuck up there now without keeping everyone in suspense for awhile. The seniors will be invited back, and a gala event made of the affair. Hittin' 'em sure hopes that you high school fellows can win the cup next year. But even at that, you fellows ought to give Moscow some kind of a trophy for second prize."

on Cathedral comes here Friday night, and on a week from Friday the Garfield team of Terre Haute will play here. The last two games are away from home, with February 23 at Anderson, and February 24 at Elwood. The last three teams are state timber, and will be hard ones to cope with.

A special delivery letter, written on Rapp Brothers letterhead from Shelbyville, has been received here, and reads as follows: "A few days ago I had the pleasure of reading your article describing the Rushville-Shelby game. You wrote exactly what we thought you would. We fully realized you couldn't say anything good about Shelby, but on reading farther down the column, I see where you pick Jess Willard to beat Jack Dempsey. I fully realized there was something wrong, possibly a screw loose or something else, but old boy, day by day in every way, we are picking Rushville to win the state tourney. Also see where your boys were off just a little with Elwood. (Signed)—A Shelby Booster. Shelbyville 45; Muncie 24. Atta Boy! How does it look? Well, old Booster, we can't figure out how a Rapper, could be a hooster, or we can't figure out how Muncie got beat so bad, unless they had an 'off night, or else Shelby was still good. Day by day in every way, we want to see just how far you will go in the state tourney. Hittin' 'em knows it will be Shelbyville's maiden trip, but we dare say there will be a few others, just as strong, and several points stronger. We gotta team over here in Rush county, Moscow, which could beat Shelbyville any old day, after they got started."

Say, old booster, did you ever stop to think that you fellows wouldn't have any team at all, if it wasn't for Rush county? Hedges and Barnett, both from Homer, are the mainstays on your team, and we're for 'em all the time.

KEEP MAILIN' 'EM TO HITTIN' 'EM

We never did hear how Carthage came out at the Knightstown tourney. We're still pickin' Greensburg to win the tourney at Carthage next Saturday.

Marion had the best of Newcastle

Saturday night, but that's nothing Newcastle. Marion had the best of Rushville last spring at the state tourney.

ANOTHER CHANCE TO WIN A CUP ANYWAY

Moscow had good practice here Saturday, and will know how to perform at the Tri-State tournament in Cincinnati February 16 and 17. You fellows don't want to wilt so fast after your first hard game, but stand up and fight harder than ever. Take care of 'em Mr. Means, and work 'em hard for that big event.

FOR STRICT CONSERVATION

Pres. Harding Aligns Himself With Wallace On Forest Policy

Washington, Feb. 6.—President Harding today gave his open support to a policy of strict conservation of the American dwindling forest reserve.

In a letter to Representative Clarke of New York, the president appealed "for a large cooperation between the federal government and the state authorities and private owners of timberland, for a national conservation policy to protect and conserve the fast dwindling forest areas of the country."

The president in his letter virtually aligned himself with the forces backing Secretary Wallace in his fight to prevent the transfer of the forest bureau Secretary Fall's department of the interior.

eridge and Watson Mentioned as Successors To Mr. Harding.

"They are afraid," said Senator Harrison, referring to Senator Watson, "that his clarion voice will ring out and he will make such a record in this body that it might give to him the cards in the next Republican convention."

Senator Watson took the floor immediately in reply. "I have no doubt," said he, "that the Senator from Mississippi would be glad to see any sort of opposition to the President of the United States, but it will not be."

"My own thought is that if Mr. Harding wants to be renominated for President he ought to be and will be, because the Republican party must stand on the record we have made, the record of his administration. It is not possible to stand on the record of the Administration and yet repudiate the head of the Administration."

"When 1924 comes around the forces of the Republican party, notwithstanding any seeming division which my friend may find in the ranks at this time, will be united and militant. They will stand upon a platform that will command the great regard of the great body of the American people and they will nominate, in my judgment, the present President of the United States without any opposition in the Republican convention."

"We stand upon the record made by Congress and by the President, by the legislative and the administrative branches of the government. It is not possible for any party to nominate somebody else than the President of the United States and yet appeal to the people to support the party on the record made by the administration of which the President is the head."

"I have no doubt in my mind that the President of the United States will be a candidate for renomination, nor have I any doubt that he will be renominated by the convention when it meets. So much for that. I am obliged to my good friend for having mentioned my name in connection with that exalted position. It is a compliment from him, if announced in a facetious and jocular vein."

"I am very glad," interrupted Senator Harris, "that the Senator stopped at the renomination of Mr. Harding, and he did not venture to indicate the outcome."

"That is as far as it is necessary to go now," replied the Senator from Indiana. "The other details will be looked after in the future."

Senator Harrison's speech also called for a disclaimer from Senator Lodge that any change had been in the Senate floor leadership.

With reference to the Senate leadership fight, Senator Watson said:

"If the Senator from Massachusetts wants to be leader, and there is no reason why he should not be, I am for him this Congress and in the next that is to come. Everybody understands the ability of the Senator, his great knowledge of parliamentary law, his statesmanship and his capacity for leadership. I do not intend, in so far as I am concerned, even in a facetious speech, to have it go out to the country that there is any division or discord on this side with reference to the leadership of the Senator from Massachusetts."

Walk Thirty-nine Miles In Assembling Directory

The task of assembling the telephone directory for Connersville, is being completed at the office of the Daily Republican, and in picking up the book, sheet for sheet around a table, one employee would register 39 miles going around the table. The books contain 82 pages, which made 41 sheets to be picked up in order to complete a book, and 4200 were printed. The distance around the table measured 45 feet. After completing the Connersville directory, the local employees will continue their march, and measure off another 39 miles on the Rushville directory.

M. M. McCREADY DIED MONDAY

Former Resident of Falmouth Expires in Indianapolis

Monroe M. McCready, a former resident of this county, who left the Falmouth vicinity about a quarter of a century ago, expired Monday night about 10 o'clock at his home, 3616 North Illinois Street, Indianapolis, death being caused from pneumonia, of which he was taken ill on Saturday. The deceased was about 68 years old, and is survived by the widow and three children, Mrs. Clarence Winchell, and Arthur McCready of Indianapolis and Mrs. C. A. Johnson of Marion, Ind. The funeral services will be held Thursday afternoon at Indianapolis.

CHIEF APPEAL THROUGH OBJECTION

The sermon closed with an appeal to men to respond to the love of God as it has been manifested towards us in Jesus Christ. Love was set forth as the climax of attainment, as the essence of Christianity, as the motive that explains the facts of the gospel and of Christian history.

The attendance last night was very good for Monday night, since, as the speaker explained, the men were tired after the peculiar experiences incident to the average home on that day. The man from Richmond in his modesty and self depreciation, marvels at the attention he gets from the audience every night.

The pastor does not wonder at that on the part of his own people; but the surprising thing is that every one who comes in falls under the same spell. The explanation is to be found in the personality of the speaker, his peculiar way of presenting the truth, and the freshness of the message.

He will speak again tonight on the theme "What I Need to Believe." An urgent invitation is extended to every one to come to the services.

DEMOCRATS FIGHT ON UPHILL BATTLE

Meeting in secret session this morning, the republican representatives heard the governor's views and said they would vote as a unit in supporting them. The meeting was held in Governor McCray's office. It was attended by 47 of the 52 majority members of the house and leaders declared the other five promised to abide by the verdict of the caucus.

The appropriation bill was before the house today, carrying $14,000,000 for operating the state government during the two fiscal years starting October 1.

Included in the pledge for the proposed appropriation of $2,000,000 to complete the reformatory at Pendleton. This is opposed by the forty-eight democrats in the house and by the smaller democratic minority in the senate. It became known that some of the republicans receded from their stand of opposition with reluctance.

Governor McCray addressed the meeting early in the evening and left his office. He discussed the reformatory plans. The session continued for several hours afterward. The absent members were Russell B. Harrison, Harry Rowbottom, James Knapp, Truman Murden and H. C. Matthews.

TURKEY BACKS DOWN ON STAND

Whether Britain will agree to resume discussions with the Turks, in view of Ismet's tardy backdown, was a question in which Paris was vitally interested today.

London, Feb. 6.—At 10 o'clock today the British government was stated to be without official confirmation of Paris dispatches stating that Ismet Pasha had given away on the question of judicial safeguards, the rock upon which the Lausanne conference split.

The cabinet met to consider the situation.

"They All Do It"

TODAY I AM REAL WELL

So Writes Woman After Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Jamestown, N. Y.—"I was nervous, easily excited and discouraged and had no ambition. Part of the time I was not able to sit up as I suffered with pains in my back and with weakness. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, both the liquid and tablet forms, and used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash for inflammation. Today I am real well and run a rooming house and do the work. I recommend your medicine to every woman who complains, and you may use my letter to help any one else. I am passing through the Change of Life now and I keep the Vegetable Compound in the house, ready to take when I feel the need of it."—Mrs. ALICE D. DAVIS, 203 W. Second St., Jamestown, N. Y.

Often some slight derangement may cause a general upset condition of the whole system, indicated by such symptoms as nervousness, headache, lack of ambition and general weakness. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will be found a splendid medicine for such troubles. In many cases it has removed the cause of the trouble.

AMUSEMENTS

Earle Williams At Mystic

Earle Williams has a somewhat different production in "The Man From Downing street," which will be shown at the Mystic Theatre again today. This production was directed by Edward Jose who has won a reputation for directing big pictures. Betty Ross Clarke appears opposite Mr. Williams in the leading feminine role. Williams impersonates an East Indian rajah during the greater part of the piece, and wears some exceptionally elaborate robes, many of which were imported from India.

In the leading character Williams has the role of a British secret service agent who is endeavoring to discover a traitorous leakage of code messages from England. In the course of investigation he meets the beautiful daughter of an army officer. It appears that as she is of the "west" and he is of the "east," their love affair cannot materialize to the desired point. Everything ends happily enough when, after his work has successfully been accomplished, the rajah becomes an Englishman again and meets the girl under favorable circumstances. Betty Ross Clarke has played in many of the most successful pictures of the day, and recently appeared opposite Mr. Williams in "Lucky Carson."

Sea Pictures At Princess

Appearing in one of the strongest sea picture ever screened, Dorothy Dalton and Jack Holt, featured players, will be seen in Paramount's "On the High Seas" at the Princess theatre again today. The action opens on an ocean liner, which is wrecked and the principal players are saved in a leaky boat when almost dead from thirst and exhaustion; run upon a derelict which is deserted save for a black kitten, all on board having died from a plague. On this ship many incidents ensue as the storm arises and beastly passion becomes uppermost in the mind of Polack, the burly stoker, who attacks the girl, a woman of big station and is worsted in a fight by Jim, the other stoker, who at the finish of the story proves to be a wealthy man who had worked his way back on the liner in search of adventure. Jim and the girl are finally rescued from the derelict as it is about to sink and taken back to port, where they again resume their social positions of lady and stoker, until in the surprise finish Jim kidnaps the girl and then reveals his real identity.

After Every Meal

"A bite to eat—a bit of sweet"

After a substantial meal, the children naturally want to top off with a bit of sweet.

Give them WRIGLEY'S, the great American Sweetmeat.

It combines the enjoyment of sweet with many BENEFITS. It cleanses the teeth, removing food particles that lodge in the crevices. It neutralizes the acids of the mouth, soothes the throat, and lastly—

WRIGLEY'S helps the stomach by supplying saliva to aid in digestive work.

"Cheap Gas" Is Uphill Economy

POOR, kerosenish motor fuel makes your engine fight continuously against the drag of sully firing, broken-backed explosions, and outright misses. Every stroke is a handicapped battle against the effects of excess carbon and kerosene-spoiled lubricating oil.

This ever present overload pulls back on your motor and car just as positively and as constantly as if every mile you traveled were upgrade—and is just as destructive.

Dodge this destructive overload. Protect your motor. Fill with

Silver Flash Gasoline

—the gasoline that you know to be of real and genuine goodness—the quick firing, full powered, keroseneless product of unskimped quality.

It Levels Out the Road for Your Car!—
